

My name is Brian Hwang and I am a rising freshman this year. I am interested in playing and watching soccer, and biking around in my spare time. I chose to join this program to play a part in people's lives and to teach for those in need. I found the experience very meaningful because the students were very shy at first but adjusted to me very quickly and learned many things from this experience and were very grateful to have me as their tutor. My goal was to have an impact on the tutee's life by helping them absorb information and knowledge on all the necessary parts of English and my students demonstrated to me that I fulfilled my job goals.
